Attracting the Best

Councilman Craig Tischner

One of the council's goals is to have an economic base to help keep property taxes low and be financially sustainable with the services we provide for our residents. As we continue to grow, we absorb an increase of maintenance costs for additional roads, parks, trails, storm drains, street lights and all the city amenities most of us enjoy. With that being said, there is a lot of excitement with economic growth that's happening that will help us continue being a financially sustainable city as we grow. With the recent announcement of the RSL Training Academy (Soccer-Topia as most people call it) and the new Anthem Commercial Center where Wal-Mart will be located, we have had increased interest with several various retailers, restaurants and entertainment establishments who would like to potentially locate in various parts of our commercial areas in Herriman City. Not only will this stimulate our economy but it will also create opportunity for shopping, entertainment and employment for those who want to be closer to home. If you would like to stay up to date on what's happening in Herriman, I encourage you to "Like" our official "Herriman City" and "Be Ready Herriman" Facebook pages and sign up for email and text alerts. As always, if you have any thoughts, questions, compliments or concerns, we as a council would like to hear from you. Please feel free to reach out to us and let us know.

Practically Perfect in Every Way

The Herriman Arts Council has outdone themselves once more with their production of Mary Poppins. The bright and lively set, the toe tapping music and the exuberant cast gave audiences a night to remember. This spoon full of sugar left audiences humming the familiar tunes as they took a step back in time. The performance received a great review in the Utah Theatre Bloggers Assoc, check it out at <http://utahtheatrebloggers.com>

UFA Safety Message

Clint Smith, Battalion Chief

As the 'Dog Days' of summer continue on, UFA offers these additional safety reminders:

High Temperatures and Kids-In-Cars

Never leave children alone in or around cars – not even for a minute. The tips below and additional details can be found at www.KidsAndCars.org

- "Look Before You Lock" - Get in the habit of always opening the back door to check the back seat before leaving your vehicle. Make sure no child has been left behind.
- Even if not traveling with your children, create a reminder to check the back seat. Put something in the back seat, like a cell phone, handbag, or brief case. This will prompt you to open the back door to retrieve the item every time the vehicle is parked.
- If a child goes missing, immediately check the inside passenger compartments and trunks of all vehicles in the area very carefully, even if they are locked. A child may lock the car doors after entering a vehicle on their own, but may not be able to unlock them.
- If you see a child alone in a vehicle, get involved. Call 911 immediately. If the child seems hot or sick, get them out of the vehicle as quickly as possible.
- Be especially careful during busy times, schedule changes and periods of crisis or holidays. This is when many tragedies occur.
- Use drive-thru services when available (restaurants, banks, pharmacies, dry cleaners, etc.) and pay for gas at the pump.

Pool and Spa Safety

- Always actively supervise children in and around the water. Lifeguards are not babysitters. Never leave a child alone in the water.
- If in a group, appoint a designated 'water watcher' and take turns with other adults. While supervising, stay alert and avoid distractions like reading or browsing on phones/handheld devices.
- Teach your child how to swim, to include: how to tread water, float, and get out of the pool.
- Also be mindful of the drains, and teach your children to stay away from them. Tie up long hair securely to guard against drain entanglement.
- Never dive into water less than nine (9) feet deep.
- Don't rely on 'water wings' or other inflatable toys. These are not life jackets.
- If you have a pool or spa, make sure it has four-sided fencing with a self-closing and self-latching gate. Ridged pool and spa covers are also recommended.

Dogs and the Dangers of Summer

Callista Pearson, Salt Lake County Animal Services

Pets can overheat and die within minutes during the summer. Take some simple precautions and keep your pet safe.

Dogs Die in Hot Cars: Dogs can die within 6 minutes of being left in a hot car. Once outdoor temperatures reach 70 degrees, it is no longer safe to leave your pet in the car. It is too hot for your pet even with windows rolled down, the car parked in the shade, and a breeze in the air. Temperatures can exceed 115 degrees within 10 minutes.

If you do see a dog in a hot car please call Dispatch at 801-743-7045. Take a photo of the license plate and relay the information to officers. If the car is gone once an officer arrives, Animal Control will make contact with that person in order to educate them on the dangers of leaving a pet in the car.

Unlimited Fresh Water: Inside or out, make sure your pet has unlimited fresh water. Add ice-cubes on those really hot days to help cool them down. If your dog is going on a hike with you don't assume there is water on the trail for them to drink. Utah is extremely dry, even in the mountains, streams dry up. Pack enough water for the both of you, when you stop to take a drink, offer water to your dog as well.

Sunrise or Sunset Walks/Hikes: Walk your dog before the heat of the day. Head out on your daily walk either early in the morning or later in the evening when the sun goes down and the temperatures are cooler.

Avoid Hot Surfaces: Dogs and cats can burn their paws on the sidewalk in the summer. Here's a simple test to tell if a surface is too hot, place the back of your hand on the pavement. If you can't hold it there for five seconds, it's too hot for you to walk your dog. Leave your pet at home where they are cool instead of taking them with you to street fairs and festivals.

Make Pupsicles: Make a tasty treat for your pooch to snack on when temperatures rise. Not only does a pupsicle help cool them off, it provides entertainment for them.

Here's what you need to make a pupsicle (makes 8 servings):

- 16 oz. low-sodium chicken broth
- 8 2.4-oz. kitchen containers with lids (pet bowls or ice cube trays also work)
- 3 oz. hard cheese, cubed or dry kibble

First place the cubes of cheese or dry kibble in the container. Then pour chicken broth over it. Place the lids on the container, let them freeze overnight. Then they're ready to serve. They can be a bit messy, so it's best to serve them in a dog bowl or give your dog this treat outside.

We look forward to utilizing her talents to enhance our recreation programs and land development along with our Parks and Events departments.

New Regulations for Detached Structures and Fences

Kathleen White, Building Permit Technician

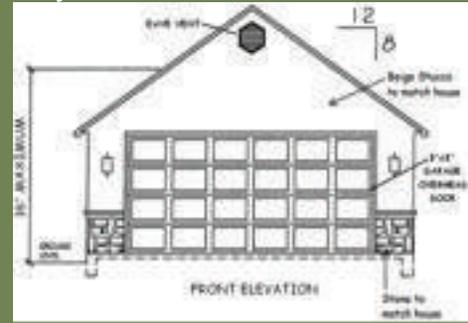

Three new ordinances have been adopted in Herriman that may affect City residents who are planning to install new fences, build detached structures such as a shed or garage or install new landscaping for new homes.

First, the new Fencing Ordinance specifies the types of fencing that is allowed and what is not allowed in Herriman City. Most notably, fencing of plastic (other than vinyl), corrugated or sheet metal, plywood, scrap lumber, scrap metal and wood are all prohibited in all zones. Also chain link fencing is prohibited in residential zones. Additionally, fencing taller than 8' is prohibited in side and rear yards and fencing taller than 3' is prohibited in front yards unless they are wrought iron which cannot exceed 4' in height. Please be aware that fences only require a building permit if they are taller than 7 feet.

Second, the new Accessories Building Requirements Ordinance now more clearly lists how big and how tall a structure can be built by Zone and the setbacks. These details can be found on our website <http://www.herriman.org/building/detached-structures/> in item #5. The biggest change from this ordinance is that the exterior front finish and any side of a detached structure that is visible from the street needs to match the exterior finish of the house. In order for this to be verified, a picture of the house must accompany the building plans submitted to the Building Department for a permit. The plans must show the exterior finish to be installed as in this sample drawing.

Finally, the new Landscaping Ordinance requires all front and side yards be landscaped to the back corners of the house. On corner lots the landscaping on the side facing a street must be landscaped to the property line. If the rear yard also faces a street, then the entire yard must be landscaped or have privacy fencing installed. For yards with a parkstrip of at least 30' or more, there must be a tree installed for every 30' of frontage.

Herriman's own Sock Puppets will be performing once again on August 11, 2016 at Herriman City Offices, 13011 S. Pioneer Street.
