Herriman City Transitions to Everbridge Notification System

Herriman City strives to keep our residents informed. From City Council meeting agendas to community event information, and from e-newsletters to wildfire alerts, we aim to keep you in the loop. In addition to this newsletter, the herriman.org website, and social media, one of our most used platforms is our mass email and text notification system. The City has used various text/email services over the years to best fit our City’s needs. The City has now partnered with Everbridge to take that communication to the next level, but we’ll need your help while we transition. We’ll explain why.

Your information remains private and secure
First things first—if you choose to subscribe to notifications, your personal contact information has always been and will always be confidential. We never use information you provide for anything other than notifications you subscribe to. It is not provided or sold to any vendor or other organization.

The old system
If you are a currently subscribed to notifications, on previous systems, you have entered your phone number or email address and selected basic categories of information to receive. That’s about it—there were lists of numbers and emails that didn’t really relate to each other. However, Herriman City’s new Everbridge system focuses on you, your needs, and convenience.

The new system—simple and convenient
For both existing and new subscribers, you can log on to herriman.org/notifications and create a simple account. You may then enter any number of contact methods (text, email, Everbridge app push notification, automated phone call, etc.), and your address for home, work, or any other place important to you in Herriman. The location information is only used to make sure your alerts are relevant to you—not the other side of town.

You can then subscribe to different types of City news. All subscribers are registered by default for emergency notifications. In case you move or something changes, you can go back and edit or delete any information you provide and what you subscribe to.

The transition – complete by August 31
After August 31st, all the previous subscription information will be deleted and Herriman City will transition completely to the Everbridge system, so make sure you switch by the end of the month to make sure you don’t miss anything! To help that transition, you will receive a message about the change from the existing system on August 23rd and 31st. You can then expect to receive all future notifications from the new system after that—but remember, you will need to resubscribe at herriman.org/notifications.

We apologize for the inconvenience. We had hoped to avoid asking residents to re-subscribe on a new platform, but doing so will help enhance our communication significantly. If you have any questions, please email communications@herriman.org.

Shop Local Business Spotlight
Peach and Bee Produce stand is back for its second year at a new location where we will be open five days a week. Opening during the pandemic was a big challenge, but we had a very successful season last summer thanks to the community support. Utah’s farmers face unique challenges, especially in this year of severe drought. We are proud to support many local farmers to bring high quality, farm-fresh produce (and even some unique, local treats) straight to our stand.

There is nothing better than corn picked that morning, tree-ripened peaches, and fresh honey. We love home food preservation, so we also wanted to make it easy to get local bulk peaches, tomatoes, and salsa ingredients for canning, drying, and freeze drying. We have a long list of fruits, vegetables, raw honey varieties, jams, salsas, and other local, specialty products available which will shift as the season progresses.

Come see us at the new 7-Eleven at 12480 South 5600 West from 10:00 am to 6:00 pm, Tuesday through Saturday until the end of harvest season. Follow us on Facebook and Instagram at @peachandbeeproduce.

Pointers For Your Fire Pit
Summer nights provide the chance to get outside and enjoy a fire in your backyard. To ensure you stay accident-free with your fire fun, here are some pointers for your pit:

Open fires pits require 25’ of clearance
Portable or improved fireplaces require 15’ of clearance
Gas fire pits and BBQ grills require 10’ of clearance

Do I need a permit for my fire pit?
If you will be installing a gas fireplace or pit, you will need a mechanical pit for the gas line. Requirements can be found at Herriman.org/ElectricalMechanicalPlumbing.

Thank you to everyone who came out to welcome home our hometown Silver Medalist Olympian!

New College Campus Coming To Herriman

July 15th, a groundbreaking ceremony was held for the new 30-acre Salt Lake Community College and University of Utah Juniper Canyon Campus, located near 14400 S and 4000 W. This project has been in the works for a long time, and the City is excited to see it come to fruition! This was a significant day as the campus will be a valuable educational asset for Herriman and the surrounding area.

HPD HOSTS D.A.R.E. OFFICER TRAINING

The Herriman Police Department recently had the privilege of hosting a D.A.R.E. officer training for new school resource officers from various western states.

Each officer is required to complete the training prior to entering into the classroom to teach the D.A.R.E. program.

With school not in session yet, HPD sought volunteer students from Herriman and the community stepped up! This allowed these 23 officers to put their new knowledge and skills to the test with mock classroom teaching on the final day of their training.

To thank the volunteers, the officers treated the students to a pizza lunch and recess afterward.
Accessory Structures

sheds, she-sheds, detached garages, pergolas, storage, etc.

- Structures less than 200 sq. ft with a roof height less than 16 ft (measured from finished grade to roof’s peak) do not require a building permit but still must comply with City setback ordinances.

- Structures larger than 200 sq. ft must be permitted by the City. The site and building plans must be submitted to the City’s Building and Planning Dept for approval. All residents who are building accessory structures larger than 200 sq. ft are encouraged to submit plans and receive approval BEFORE ANY MATERIALS ARE PURCHASED.

- Structures that have electrical or plumbing must be permitted through the Building Dept.

- Setback info can be found at Herriman.org/building.

Prioritize Your Plants

Despite recent rainfall, we are still in one of the worst droughts on record here in the state of Utah. To help conserve water, water where it matters most by prioritizing your yard’s plants and watering in this order:

1. Trees
2. Shrubs
3. Perennials
4. Annuals
5. Lawn
