Halloween can be a lot of fun for humans, but pets may not appreciate the costumes and candy. Protect your pets from Halloween dangers with these tips:

1. Keep candy out of reach. All forms of chocolate and the artificial sweetener can be poisonous to dogs & cats. Call your vet if your pet has eaten either.
2. Keep pets confined and away from the door. Dogs may be likely to dart out the door, or become anxious with trick-or-treaters in costumes and yelling for candy. Put them in a crate or a backroom and keep everyone safe.
3. Close the blinds or drapes, disconnect doorbells. If your dog reacts every time someone walks by or rings the doorbell, close the drapes and disconnect the doorbell for the evening.
4. Keep outdoor pets inside before and after Halloween. Keep dogs and cats indoors to prevent them from being injured, stolen, or even poisoned as part of a Halloween prank.
5. Don’t approach dogs while in costume. Even if you know the dog, a strange costume or mask can frighten them. They may not recognize you in costume. If a dog escapes a house or yard and you are out, a strange costume or mask can frighten them.
6. Test out pet costumes before trick-or-treating. Take them for a walk earlier in the day to be sure to thank a Veteran for their service! To prevent them from being injured, stolen, or even poisoned as part of a Halloween prank.
7. Leave them at home. With all the commotion, it may be best to leave your pet home while trick-or-treating. Take them for a walk earlier in the day to prevent them from being injured, stolen, or even poisoned as part of a Halloween prank.

Smoke alarms that are properly installed and maintained play a vital role in reducing fire deaths and injuries. Plainly stated, smoke alarms save lives. If there is a fire in your home, smoke spreads fast and you need smoke alarms to give you time to get out. Having a working smoke alarm reduces the chances of dying in a reported fire by 50%. According to the National Fire Protection Association, almost two-thirds of home fire deaths resulted in homes with no smoke alarms or no working smoke alarms.

Carbon monoxide detectors also save lives. Carbon monoxide is colorless, odorless, and one of the most toxic substances humans can be exposed to. Each year, more than 500 people in the U.S. die from carbon monoxide poisoning, and thousands are hospitalized. The best defense against carbon monoxide poisoning is to have properly installed, functioning carbon monoxide detectors.

There are many models of combination smoke/carbon monoxide alarms on the market. What is the most important thing to remember when installing a smoke alarm or carbon monoxide alarm? Location, Location, Location!

Smoke Alarm Safety:
• Install at least one smoke alarm inside every bedroom, outside of each bedroom area, and on each level of a home. Ideally, they should be interconnected so all alarms throughout the home sound simultaneously. These are the minimum building code requirements for newly constructed homes.
• If possible, avoid installing closer than 20 feet to cooking equipment and three feet from a bathroom door.
• Test each smoke alarm regularly.
• Keep batteries fresh by replacing them at least annually. Twice a year when daylight saving time begins and ends is a great trigger to remind you.
• Check the manufacture date on your smoke alarm. Replace it if it is at least 10 years old.

Carbon Monoxide (CO) Alarm Safety:
• Install a CO alarm in the hallway outside of each bedroom area. This is the minimum building code requirement.
• Test each CO alarm regularly in accordance with the manufacturer’s instructions.
• If the alarm sounds, immediately open windows and doors to ventilate the home. Call 911 if anyone is experiencing symptoms of poisoning – headache, dizziness, or other flu-like symptoms.
• Permanently wired or plug-in CO alarms should have battery backup. Keep batteries fresh by replacing them annually. Once again, twice a year when daylight saving time begins and ends is a good time.

Smoke alarms and CO alarms can’t help you unless they are functional and you can hear them. Use these important tips to stay safe and healthy.

Meet the New Sergeant
Brian Weidmer, Investigations Unit Sergeant - Herriman UPD Precinct

In my senior year of college, I answered a job posting for a deputy/paramedic position. The clinical hours as a paramedic would meet the application requirement for the medical graduate program I planned on attending. The law enforcement gig was entirely temporary. That was 23 years ago.

I've loved every minute of my career with the Salt Lake County Sheriff's Office/Unified Police Department, and feel blessed and fortunate to have enjoyed many diverse assignments: community policing, narcotics detective, violent crime investigation, working Canyon Patrol and Search and Rescue at a time when the SWAT Team was small. My journey began in Northern California where I grew up spending summers in the Sierra Nevada Mountains and sailing on Lake Tahoe. My love of the outdoors has taken me into the Wasatch and Uinta Mountains, where I love to backpack and hike. I enjoy rock climbing, cave exploring, mountain biking, and spending time with my family. My wife, Debbie, and I are good friends in high school where we studied together, had common friends, and our families went to church together. After 25 years of not being in contact, we rediscovered each other in Utah County, both single parents. It didn't take us long to realize we had always wanted to be together! We have spent the last 4 years laughing and blending our two families into one with ten children. Best friends for life.

My greatest memories and successes in law enforcement have been in the Salt Lake County Sheriff's Office. Protecting the quality of life of those we serve. I am pleased and honored to work for the community of Herriman.

Howl-O-Ween Pet Safety Tips
Salt Lake County Animal Services

Halloween can be a lot of fun for humans, but pets may not appreciate the costumes and candy. Protect your pets from Halloween dangers with these tips:
1. Keep candy out of reach. All forms of chocolate and the artificial sweetener can be poisonous to dogs & cats. Call your emergency vet if your pet has eaten either.
2. Keep pets confined and away from the door. Dogs may be likely to dart out the door, or become anxious with trick-or-treaters in costumes and yelling for candy. Put them in a crate or a backroom and keep everyone safe.
3. Close the blinds or drapes, disconnect doorbells. If your dog reacts every time someone walks by or rings the doorbell, close the blinds and disconnect the doorbell for the evening.
4. Keep outdoor pets inside before and after Halloween. Keep dogs and cats indoors to prevent them from being injured, stolen, or even poisoned as part of a Halloween prank.
5. Don't approach dogs while in costume. Even if you know the dog, a strange costume or mask can frighten them. They may not recognize you in costumes. If a dog approaches a house or yard and runs up to you, tell your child to stand like a tree, and wait for the owner to grab the dog.
6. Test out pet costumes before. Make sure the costume isn't causing them distress, or giving them an allergic reaction. It shouldn't restrict their movement or ability to breathe, bark or meow.
7. Leave them at home. With all the commotion, it may be best to leave your pet home while trick-or-treating. Take them for a walk earlier in the day before the ghosts and goblins come out for the night to speak to Fido.

Looking to add another furry family member? During October, Salt Lake County Animal Services will be offering 1/2 off pet adoption fees for any black pet. Find out more about us at adoptutahpets.com or visit 511 West 3900 South in Salt Lake City.
