Crossing into the School Year

The mornings feel a little cooler, serving as a reminder that the dog days of summer are coming to a close. Time seems to fly by, and even though many of us parents quietly rejoice watching the children climb in to the school bus, we ask ourselves, “where did the summer go?”

Soon, beach towels and swim suits will be replaced by knit sweaters and carved pumpkins, iced tea will become pumpkin spice, and the sweet smell of sunscreen will evolve into an aroma of crisp fall leaves. The visions of kids stamping through the splash pads have been replaced by them scurrying to the bus stop, and Team Summer will grudgingly relinquish the reins to Team Fall.

School is back in session and our attention is refocused on school safety and our efforts to keep children and our crossing guards safe. The City has worked closely with Jordan School District and the Herriman Police Department to lay out safe walking routes (available on each school’s website) and provide crossing guards at designated crosswalks. It is important to remember that the safest route is not always the shortest route, but it is the best route for children to use for safe passage to school. Whether your children walk to school or are driven, here are a few reminders for safety:

Driving Your Children to School

- Slow down and adhere to the speed limit in school zones – they are reduced for a reason
- Practice defensive driving
- Avoid the use of cell phones while driving and eliminate distractions
- Watch for crossing guards and obey their instructions and stop signs
- Yield to all pedestrians and kids on bicycles and don’t block the crosswalk when stopped or waiting to turn
- Be aware of your surroundings

- Form a car pool with other parents in the neighborhood to reduce the number of cars pulling in and out of schools
- DO NOT load or unload children across the street from the school or bus stop
- DO NOT double park, blocking visibility for other children and vehicles
- If you have a teen driver, review safety tips with them and stress the importance of being mindful of their surroundings
- Remember, being on time is not worth risking your life or the lives of others

- Remind children to not take rides from people if it wasn’t arranged by a parent
- Remind children to not cross the street until traffic is clear, and to keep looking for traffic until they are done crossing
- Watch for cars at every driveway and intersection
- Don’t push or chase each other near the street
- Mind the instruction of crossing guards

Crosswalk Safety
As our youth have headed back to school, we remind residents to use extreme caution while traveling through school zones and to keep a watchful eye out for students.

Every school has designated safe walking routes to safely guide students to school. These routes can be found on each school’s website. Herriman City employs 66 crossing guards who help children cross busy roads and intersections along those paths. Parents, please encourage your kids to walk those safe walking routes, which are not always the fastest walking routes.

The most helpful thing you can do to ensure the safety of our kids is to obey the speed limits and keep your attention on the road. If there are pedestrians in a school zone crosswalk, it is illegal to proceed through that crosswalk until the pedestrians are completely off the road, regardless of which half of the road they are walking on.

Family Emergency Plans

As children return to school, this is a great time to revisit (or create) your family’s emergency plan. With many parents working and having children in school, it is important there is a plan if there is an emergency and your family is separated. Emergencies can be frightening and stressful, so discussing these events before something happens will hopefully reduce some of those feelings.

To get started:
- Develop a communication plan so your kids know who to contact if parents aren’t accessible. Have a list of trusted individuals you or your children can reach out to such as other family, siblings, neighbors, or family friends
- Ensure they have a safe primary and secondary route to and from school
- Discuss concerns with school staff when attending parent-teacher conference. Understand schools' procedures and expectations if an incident occurs while children are at school
- It can be uncomfortable, but discuss the types of emergencies that may occur and how you and your kids will respond if something happens
- Make sure children are sent to school each day with the appropriate clothing (coats, shoes, etc.) in case they’re evacuated from school for an extended amount of time

What’s Your Plan?

Develop a communication plan
Ensure safe routes to/from school

Understand school’s emergency procedures
Discuss different types of emergencies

Make sure kids have appropriate clothing

Road to School Celebration

Thank you to Riverton City, Herriman City Police Department, Riverton City Police Department, Unified Fire Authority, Jordan School District, Mountain Ridge High School, and all of you for helping to celebrate the opening of Sentinel Ridge Boulevard. Kids enjoyed the bike rodeo, touch-a-truck, and the bike ride on the new road before it opened. The new road provides a secondary access to Mountain Ridge High School and Ridge View Elementary off of 13400 South.

We Are Herriman:
A Community Pride Campaign

Each month, we will recognize individuals for their contributions to our community culture, sharing the good work that they do. As we continue to evolve and establish our City brand, we are defined by those that make up this community. We Are Herriman.

Awaken City Church

Awaken City Church, lead by Derek Duvall, is leaving its footprint in Herriman City. Derek is passionate about service, as are the church members. He reached out to Herriman City to inquire about special event permits in order to run a community scavenger hunt, which forged a partnership between the church and City. The church sponsored and helped co-run the Yeti Hunt in 2017 and members have volunteered at several events since then, including the Fort Herriman Towne Days parade and the Herriman Howl.

But they don’t stop with only City events! Awaken City Church members have volunteered at a handful of schools, the recreation center, with committees, and within neighborhoods. They will wash windows, pull weeds, or run events just to name a few. They have held multiple neighborhood gatherings over the last two years that have brought in 300-500 people each. They also hosted a pancake breakfast to bring together new friends and neighbors. The relationships they build with those they serve and serve with bring the most gratification.

Derek and his wife moved with their five children from Knoxville, Tennessee a little over two years ago, along with five other families. They knew they wanted to come to Utah but didn’t have a particular location in mind other than the Salt Lake area. They found a home to rent in Herriman and fell in love with the community. They are permanent residents of Herriman now and look forward to the opportunities of serving those around them. Derek stated, “if we know the city better, we can serve it better.” He wants the community to know they are here to serve and bless the city, not to be seen as a burden. He is proud to be a part of Herriman.

Shannon Atkinson

Shannon Atkinson has been with Herriman City for just over a year now working as a Parks Technician overseeing the maintenance and upkeep primarily of W & M Butterfield Park. Shannon’s duties vary daily from grooming the rodeo grounds and baseball fields, to fixing fencing and sprinkler, and he even gets to work on the ice rink in the winter. He enjoys working outside and with his hands and one of the most rewarding perks of the job is to drive by the park and see residents enjoying their time there.

He takes pride in improving the park, but particularly the baseball fields, even though he is more of a soccer fan. The love for soccer may have stemmed from him spending time in Brazil as an exchange student in his teenage years. Shannon is married and has three sons and enjoys spending time with his family outdoors, hiking throughout the West, or creating “art” on his front lawn when the college football season comes around. As a University of Utah graduate, Shannon continues to root for the Utes.

Herriman City’s culture, close-knit community, and respect for their employees are what attracted Shannon to make the transition from working for another agency to Herriman. He believes Herriman has managed to keep a small town feel even with the growth it has experienced, which is why he hopes to stay with Herriman until an early retirement. Lastly, in addition to working full-time for Herriman, Shannon has spent 15 years teaching philosophy and religion at Salt Lake Community College and Utah Valley University as an Adjunct Professor. He says to come enjoy one of his classes some time as well as the park.

Children Walking to School

- Talk to them about safety
- Help them plan out a safe route by reviewing the safe walking routes
- Equip them with reflective stickers, helmets, and other safety gear
- Teach them hand signals so drivers know where they are going
- Form a walking or biking group with others in your neighborhood
- There is safety in numbers!
- Young children should walk with an adult
- Remind children to not take rides from people if it wasn’t arranged by a parent
- Remind children to not cross the street until traffic is clear, and to keep looking for traffic until they are done crossing
- Watch for cars at every driveway and intersection
- Don’t push or chase each other near the street
- Mind the instruction of crossing guards

From public works to public safety, Herriman City works hard to ensure our community is a safe place. We have 66 crossing guards serving 57 crossings to protect children as they travel to and from the schools each day. These amazing individuals work rain, snow, or shine to assist our youth in arriving safely at their destination, and serve as role models for safety by providing guidance and tips. We encourage parents to review safety tips with their children. Together we can instill the importance of being alert and avoiding distractions, helping our children develop the skills necessary to safely travel our streets.

Enjoy the final days of summer; ride your bikes, take a walk, and don your shorts, flip flops, and t-shirts for a little while longer. Soon we will be teased by the first cool snap of the crisp fall air, luring us to slip on our cable knit sweaters, throw on that cargo jacket, and cover our toes.

Tomorrow’s Leaders

The school year has started up, and so has Herriman Youth Council! The council has 38 members, ages 14-17. They help with anything the City needs, including staffing events like the Herriman Enduro Challenge and cleaning up the neighborhood.

The council also cares for a garden and donates the harvested vegetables to St. Andrews, which distributes the food to those in need. They also adopted a portion Mountain View Corridor to cleanup multiple times a year. The Youth Council participates in a wide array of activities and service for the City and their peers and provides an environment for participants to grow into leaders of our future!

Shop Local Spotlight

Intermountain Tire Pros is locally owned and operated by Robert Christensen, who has been in the tire business for the last 15 years. He started with stores in Idaho and Utah before working with American Tire Distributors. In Seattle, while opening their new distribution center, he knew he would own his own tire store one day. After moving his family back from Washington, he started the leg work to open his store. Wanting to locate to an area that had a small-town feel, and with a philosophy completely focused on customer service, his research indicated Herriman would be the perfect location.

With his expertise in the business, Robert goes out of his way to ensure Intermountain Tire Pros delivers honest, friendly service on tires, wheels, brakes, alignments, suspensions, and oil changes. You can know that when you walk through the doors at Intermountain Tire Pros, you will be greeted with friendly staff and a clean showroom, and you’ll never be sold something you don’t need.

“We love Herriman and consider it an absolute pleasure to be your hometown tire store,” says Robert. “Thank you for the support we have received from this great community. Our family extends our gratitude and considers it an absolute privilege to be here.”
